CITY NEWS.

We are requested to state that there will be a meeting of citizens who feel an interest in the fuel question, at Masonic Temple on Saturday, at twelve o'clock. It is important that something be speedily accomplished for the relief of our people. There are hundreds suffering now, and how much their suffering may be increased in a day or two no one can tell. While the weather is warm and genial people are generally content, and hope that the pinching cold weather is upon them the river may rise sufficiently to bring a supply of coal to our wharves. While of late we have had frequent rains here, the river has not risen sufficiently at Pittsburgh to afford any permanent relief. In view of the suffering that must inevitably follow the want of a fuel supply, it becomes a question of deep interest to our people what shall be done.

The meeting on Saturday is for the purpose of taking action as to the necessity of the times demands. There should be a vigorous and concerted movement. Let the friends of humanity, and those who are willing to give their aid and influence to the movement, not fail to be at Masonic Temple on Saturday next at twelve o'clock.

WOOD'S THEATRE.—The farewell benefit of the b-witching and accomplished young actress Miss Jane Coombs will take place this evening. The bill announced on this occasion presents a combination of attraction seldom witnessed on one night. At the earnest request of several of her warm admirers she will personate Lady Eveline Amyott and Marie in the new and popular plays of the "Wife's Secret" and the "World of Fashion." This lady, during her present engagement, has slightly appeared with increased success to large and fashionable audiences, and as a slight token of respect for her untiring efforts to please and gratify those who have visited the theatre, and the fact of this being most positively her last appearance, should be a strong inducement for play-goers to turn out, and show their liberality by crowding the theatre.

Commonwealth vs. Geo. Stoller; motion by defendant for new trial.

Commonwealth vs. Wm. Dunn and Stephen Barker, robbery; jury—three years each.

Commonwealth vs. Wm. Watkins, malicious stabbing; nolle prosequi.

Commonwealth vs. John McEneaney, malicious shooting; continued for defendant.

Commonwealth vs. H. Falkenberg, arson; continued for defendant.

WE UNDERSTAND THAT Mr. Charles Wolcott and lady, late of Miss Laura Keane's Combination Troupe, have kindly consented to appear at Wood's theatre on Saturday evening, the benefit night of Eddy Bauer, the popular and gentlemanly treasurer of that beautiful temple of the muses. The fact that Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott have been connected with one of the best combination troupes in the country should be an inducement for all lovers of good acting to go and see them. This will be positively their first and only appearance in this city, as they take their departure for the East on Sunday morning.

THE FAIR—A CARD.—The ladies of the Mary and Martha Society take great pleasure in returning their warmest thanks to their generous patrons at the Fair for the poor, which closed on Wednesday night. The noble generosity of the public was almost unprecedented, even in Louisville, and the poor will think their benefactors during the coming winter. Though the fair continued only for three evenings, the net proceeds amounted to the handsome sum of over $1,800.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—There was a large attendance at the Louisville theatre last night, and the performances passed off very well. To-night is set apart for the farewell benefit of Mr. Condoick, when the "Advocate's Last Case" and the "Clumney Corner" will be produced. Mr. Condoick is an actor of rare merits, and his Father Trudy in the "Clumney Corner" is one of the first places of acting that we have seen for a long time.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Thursday, Nov. 5.—A young man who desires his name to be suppressed was drunk. He was discharged. Samuel A. Conley, alias John Smith, who was committed for sixty days, to await a requisition from the Governor of Indiana for horse stealing, was brought in this morning and discharged.

RENEWAL.—On Wednesday night a negro woman belonging to Mr. Morris, who resides on the corner of First and Broadway, left her master's house, since which time no trace of her could be found. It is supposed that she crossed the river at this point, and is making her way to Canada.

MR. GILL, superintendent of the Louisville and Frankfort railroad, announces that freight will be received at the depot for shipment on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, until further notice. This will materially facilitate trade again in and to the Blue-grass region.

A meeting of the ladies of Louisville friendly to the holding of a fair for the benefit of the poor, will be held in the drawing-room of the Masonic Temple at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning. A general attendance is earnestly requested.

PRISONERS SENT NORTH.—Ninety prisoners of war, including a number of officers, were sent north yesterday under strong guard. The officers will be forwarded to Johnson's Island and the privates to Camp Morton, Indianapolis.

FINE TOBACCO.—A crop of seven hogheads, grown by T. C. Reese, of Todd county, was sold yesterday by Messrs. Spratt & Co. at an average of $21 per one hundred pounds.

During the present term of the Circuit Court twenty-five persons have been convicted on different charges of felony, all of whom are now confined in jail.

Judge Ballard being absent, there was no session of the United States District Court yesterday. It will probably be in session to-morrow morning.

Up to dark last evening no arrests had been made except several men and women who were taken up for being drunk and disorderly.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Board of Trade this (Friday) evening at 7 1/2 o'clock. Members will please attend.

Matters in police circles are exceedingly dull at present, which speaks very well for the morals of the city.

Yesterday was a beautiful clear day and the streets were crowded with ladies who were out shopping.

Life insurance is more efficacious in its operation as regards the moral and domestic comfort of the people, and in its tendency to reduce taxation by its reduction of pauperism, and possibly of crime, than the legislation of our wisest statesmen. It universally adopted it would be a national blessing. It may be felt by many, that admitting the duty of life insurance in full, their income is nevertheless insufficient to enable them to spare even the small sum necessary as a premium for life or annuity insurance. The necessities of the present are so great that they do not see how they can afford it. It will readily be acknowledged by everybody who has an income of any amount at all that there must be some who have smaller incomes—say, for instance, that a man has eighteen hundred a year, he cannot doubt that there are some who have only fifteen hundred. Now if these persons live on fifteen hundred, why may not he do so too—apportion it, as a deposit for life insurance, or a portion of it, as a deposit for life insurance. In like manner he who has a thousand a year may live as men do who have only nine hundred, and devote the remaining one hundred to a sum insured upon his life. It may, perhaps, require an effort to accomplish this, but is not the object worthy of an effort? And can any man be held as honest, or in any way good, who will not make such an effort? Leaving in beggary and misery the beings he most cherished on earth, and for whose support he alone is responsible? There can be no excuse for any man to neglect this important duty. The trifling sum of six cents a day will secure a policy of life insurance for more than a thousand dollars on a person aged thirty years, ten cents a day on a person aged forty years, or twelve cents a day on a person aged fifty years. Houses and other property are insured against loss by fire, and the cargoes of steamers against the perils of navigation, and yet how many neglect to perform a greater and higher duty by protecting their families against the casualties and uncertainties of life? Fire and marine insurance is but a hazard where there are comparatively but few losses, but in life we should prepare to die. No man can escape death—it will come sooner or later to all. If we have loved ones dependent upon us and upon our daily labors for their support, our duty is only half performed if we provide not for their comfort and support after our death. The performance of this moral duty is within the reach of all who are in good health and strong constitution, for none other are insurable. The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York presents attractions unequalled by any other company in the world. It has now a cash accumulation amounting to quite ten millions of dollars, and during the twenty years of its existence as a magnificent benevolent society it has paid to the widows and orphans of its deceased members over four and a half millions of dollars. It is a source of the greatest satisfaction that these millions this company has already paid have ministered so much to comfort and support many who would otherwise have been entirely destitute and thrown upon the cold charities of the world.

WASHINGTON FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP—NEW FIRM.—The old established foundry of Inman, Gault & Co., corner of Ninth and Main streets, has passed into the control of another firm. The old proprietors retire from business, and Messrs. John B. Davies, Wm. S. Inman, L. Arnold, and J. H. Westby, under the style of Davis & Co., are their successors. The members of the new firm are thorough practical machinists and founders, familiar with the business in all its branches, and master mechanics at the head of the various departments embraced in their establishment. Under the auspices of the new firm, the Washington Foundry bids fair to enter upon a prosperous business.

We understand that Captain Pegram has contracted with Davis & Co. for the machinery, &c., for the new Rath—a large and magnificent steamer now in course of construction. The high reputation of Mr. Davies and the other members of the firm will doubtless insure them at all times a liberal share of business in this line.

SPRING, SMITH & CHADUCK'S MINSTRELS.—This most excellent troupe of "burnt cork professionals" were greeted with a very fine audience upon their first appearance at Masonic Temple on last evening. "Rock me to Sleep Mother," and "Mother is the Battle Over," by Con. T. Murphy, were rendered in a manner we have seldom heard equaled, while the "Virginia Reel," by Fred. Spring, and "Kingdom Coming," by the inimitable Smith, were well received by the delighted audience. The clog dance by Joe Childs, and the excellent jig by Alex. Rose, were well executed. The bill for this evening is one of unusual interest, with an entire change of programme, and we hope to see the Temple well filled.

The trial of Nancy Miller, alias Nancy White, who was arrested in Newport, Ky., last week, on the charge of aiding slaves to escape, took place at Williamstown, Grant county, Ky., on Tuesday, resulting in her conviction. She was sentenced to six years imprisonment in the State penitentiary.

A special Washington dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette states that recruiting stations for slaves have been opened in all the lower counties of Maryland. An order for a similar course in Kentucky and Tennessee will soon be issued.

ESCAPE OF A REBEL PRISONER.—Night before last a man named Darlin Webster, from Grant county, Ky., succeeded in making his escape from the Covington military prison, where he was confined on the charge of violating his oath.

A lad of fourteen years, son of Mrs. Story, residing on Grayson, below Eighteenth street, had his arm so badly shattered while out gunning yesterday that amputation was deemed necessary. The arm was amputated by Drs. Hardin and Griffith last evening.

Wm. Ehrlich, newsdealer at the corner of Third and Main streets, and the popular messengers of the Adams Express company, have our thanks for Cincinnati and Eastern papers in advance of the mails.

The government daily issues rations to more than two hundred refugees from the South. Most of them who arrive here are in a destitute condition and the government has to feed and clothe them.

Pat. Moran, who is in the employ of the government, got very drunk yesterday and attempted to whip everybody at the Nashville depot. He was arrested and sent to the barracks.

The actual amount taken by the guerrillas from the Branch Bank of Kentucky at Danville was $1,480, all except this having been sent off two days before the raid.

A large drove of superior cattle, lately purchased in Washington county, Ind., arrived here yesterday. They are intended for the retail market.

A number of contrabands are daily picked up, and those who have not the proper passes are sent forward to work on the government roads.

B. F. Taylor, Esq., correspondent of the Chicago Journal, was in our city yesterday. He is en route for the army of the Cumberland.

Cotton is selling in Nashville for 60¢ per hundred pounds.

See advertisement of laborers wanted.
